

Cami Vicencio Teams With NewWorld to Deliver GTFO Podcast

July 1, 2010 - Dallas, TEXAS - NewWorld, a private investment & management company with interest in digital media and interactive entertainment, today announced that video editor, graphic designer, tech geek and video game enthusiast, Miss Cami Vicencio, has signed a two-year agreement to host a weekly video podcast named "GTFO."

The show will be part of a new digital network that currently includes Avault Podcast, Stevie FTW and the Evil Ed Podcast.

Miss Vicencio describes herself as a video game enthusiast that has "done everything in gaming from running tourneys, throwing parties, competing, broadcasting, and even commentating on matches." In her free time she likes to "troll on 4chan & IRC, and party it up at concerts, festivals and raves."

The Mature-rated show will air every Monday and cover technology, gaming, entertainment and the cyber-pop culture. Joining Miss Vicencio are co-hosts Ryan "gootecks" Gutierrez and Hogan "2kamra" Carter.

More information on GTFO is available now at:

Web Site - <http://GTFO.tv> Twitter - <http://twitter.com/GTFOtv> Facebook - <http://facebook.com/GTFOtv>